Task of Raising Valuations Started by County Auditor

The tedious task of revising upward the valuations on Fayette County real estate for tax purposes today was under way in the auditor's office less than six office hours after orders had come down from the State Board of Tax Appeals.

Two young women were added to the staff to help get the job done. Assigned exclusively to that work, were Miss Florence Cook and Miss Marie Marchant.

Auditor Ulric Acton said "I hope we can finish up in three weeks, but it might take a little longer . . . it's pretty hard to tell until we see how things go."

When the new valuations are completed, Acton said an abstract would have to be prepared and sent to the state board for approval or disapproval.

When the county can start collecting now overdue taxes remains highly conjectural.

The revisions of the property valuations were ordered by the state board after it rejected those submitted on the basis of last year's reappraisal.

In its report, the state board described some of the valuations as "ridiculous" and noted "widespread irregularities."

The state board's report was received by Auditor Acton late Friday. The office was closed Saturday afternoon and Sunday, but the auditor's staff plunged into the job of revising the valuations as ordered by the state, Monday morning.

While the staff was at work on the books, the auditor was in a morning-long huddle with the commissioners. Property valuations were the chief topic of the earnest discussions.

Acton said that in raising the land values in the townships, figures for each farm would have to be re-computed and separately. The state board provided the auditor with a per-acre increase for each township.

In the county's villages and in Washington C. H. the increases are being computed on a blanket percentage basis, Acton said.

Just where the Fayette County Board of Revision fits into the picture is somewhat uncertain, in making corrections in the "widespread inequalities" and "ridiculous" (Please Turn To Page Two)

MINERS GO BACK TO WORK

Demented Youth Kills Four in Brief Rampage

Mad Killer Caught As Brooklyn Police At Bloody Trail End

NEW YORK, March 6—(AP)—A 19-year-old youth, just released from a hospital for the criminal insane, slaughtered four strangers and stabbed three other persons in a ten-minute rampage through crowded Brooklyn streets yesterday.

The mad killer, William Jones, a Negro, finally was beaten into submission with gunbuts after police pursued him along three blood-trailed blocks.

Jones, turned loose as sane last Wednesday, wouldn't tell police what made him grab a 14-inch carving knife from a restaurant and rage through the tenement district, slashing at the heart of every passerby.

The four who died were white men whom Jones apparently never had seen before.

But one of Jones' other victims, a 20-year-old Negro, was a friend and neighbor. Jones cut him as the victim raised a hand in greeting.

Jones slashed the seven without warning—the way Howard Unruh, 28-year-old war veteran, killed 13 persons with gunfire in Camden, N. J. last September.

The Smiths insisted they did not know Frazier was wanted.

Fugitive Hunted, too
Also sought is James Sherman Pursely, 34, who escaped from the London prison farm last Dec. 29.

The manhunt began following a Saturday night crime spree which police described as the "Daniels-and-West-type."

Mrs. Lois Frazier, 29, was captured after Frazier and Pursely wrecked their automobile in a police chase Saturday night.

Robert Muri Daniels was electrocuted early in 1949 for three of six murders with which he and John C. West were charged. West was killed by police when Daniels was captured.

Pension, Pay Hike Is Sought by Union

NEW YORK, March 6—(AP)—A pay increase of ten cents an hour, a guaranteed pension of $125 a month after retirement, and other benefits for employees of the two biggest electric manufacturing companies are sought by leaders of the United Electrical Workers (UE).

The contract demands were announced yesterday after being drawn up at week-end meetings of conference boards representing 100 UE locals.

The demands are subject to ratification by members of the locals before they are presented to the General Electric Company and the Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

The UE's rival union, the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), also worked during the week-end on contract demands, but did not announce any terms.

Weirton Steel Co. Boosts Benefits

WEIRTON, W. Va., March 6—(AP)—Weirton Steel Company and its independent union today announced the firm's retirement annuity plan has been amended to provide increased pension benefits for 13,000 employees.

Major new benefits of the plan, retroactive to January 1, are:

1. An increase of 33½ per cent in retirement income benefits without increased cost to employees.

2. A guarantee that any employee who is a member of the retirement annuity plan and has 25 or more years of service with the company at retirement age will receive a monthly retirement income for life equal to 60 per cent of his average monthly wages or salary during his last ten years of employment.

A steady stream of friends, relatives and total strangers descended upon Mrs. Wolfe yesterday at her Cleveland Heights home. And that lucky telephone over which she gave the right answer kept on ringing.

Some of the well-wishers slyly questioned her about some of the prizes she may not want.

Rich Dog Is Dead; Left $25,000 When His Owner Died

LIBERTY, Mo., March 6—(AP)—Duke, a Collie dog that received a $25,000 legacy, is dead.

The 16-year-old animal died Saturday night.

Three years ago Duke's mistress, Mrs. Martha M. Benson, a widow, died leaving her estate to Duke. He had been her constant companion since she found him as a puppy.

Mrs. Benson's will stated that after the dog's death the estate was to be divided between two Kansas City institutions, the Catherine Hale Home for blind women and Mercy Hospital.

Relief Clients To Have to Work

Cleveland Officials Adopt New Plan

CLEVELAND, March 6—(AP)—City officials said today they plan to put 1,000 relief clients to work here to earn all or part of their welfare checks.

City Relief Commissioner John P. Pokorny said the program was similar to ones adopted in New York and other cities.

The clients will be given city jobs but they will "not displace any city employees or prevent any increase in the city's working personnel," Pokorny added. "They simply will do work for the money the city just hasn't got."

Relief workers who fail to show up for assigned jobs will be docked a portion of their relief checks.

Pokorny said 25 men will be given laborers jobs in the division of shade trees Wednesday. The force will be gradually built up to 1,000 as a study of the city's needs in other departments progresses.

"One of the reasons we decided on the program is because we find a higher percentage of employable persons on relief rolls as the rolls grow," Pokorny said.

"Out of the present 4,800 clients, we estimate that 1,000 will be able to work," he said.

Maximum work for those assigned will be 32 hours a week. Since relief checks range from $55 to $250 a month, city officials figure that few of the workers will be able to earn their entire checks.

In the case of those with small checks, however, the work week will be reduced.

Most of those employed will be men, but openings for women also are being investigated.

17 Violent Death During Weekend

(By The Associated Press)

Violent death came to 17 Ohioans in five forms over the week end, a survey by the Associated Press revealed Monday.

Ten persons were killed in traffic accidents—four in one crash; automobile carbon monoxide fumes were fatal to two, two died after falls, gas fumes in a home killed two, and one suffocated in a home fire.

The survey began at 6 P. M. Friday and was completed at midnight Sunday.

Pal of Purple Gang Boss Killed Trying to Rob House in Detroit

DETROIT, March 6—(AP)—Johnny Gach, Purple gang associate and recent companion of the notorious Harry Fleisher, was killed last night while trying to rob a house.

Police said a shotgun blast fired by a young unemployed auto worker fatally wounded the 34-year-old hoodlum.

Gach's body was found in a parked car about 40 minutes after Walter Baranowski, 23, reported to police that he had shot and wounded one of two men who he said were trying to break into his

Cancer Victim Lifeless When Injection Given, Dr. Sander Testifies

Dr. Hermann N. Sander

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 6—(AP)—Dr. Hermann N. Sander testified today Mrs. Abbie Borroto was lifeless when he reached her bedside but "something snapped," leading him to inject air into her veins.

The country doctor, on trial for murder—accused of killing the cancer-ridden patient with the injections—took the stand at the start of the third week of his trial.

Under cross-examination, Attorney General William L. Phinney asked:

"You don't know why you put air into the veins?"

"That's right," replied the doctor in an even tone.

Q. You don't know for what purpose?

A. I don't know why I acted this way.

Q. No explanation at all?

A. Except that the appearance of her face—her long suffering—might have touched me off. It doesn't make sense.

Q. If she was alive would it kill her?

A. I don't know.

Q. You said in your direct testimony that something snapped in your mind?

A. What I was thinking at that time is hard to explain.

Dr. Sander added:

"I realize I had not taken a life. I told Craig (county prosecutor) I had committed a crime; I meant I had not taken a life."

Former President Of France Is Dead

PARIS, March 6—(AP)—Former president of the French Republic Albert Lebrun died today. He was 78.

The son of poor farmers, Lebrun was elected president in 1932 and served until July, 1940, when he was deposed by Marshal Philippe Pétain after France's defeat by Germany. Lebrun spent the German occupation in retirement in the French Alps.

Before he succeeded the assassinated Paul Doumer as president, Lebrun held a succession of cabinet posts, was a member of the Chamber of Deputies from 1900 until 1919, and of the Senate from 1920 until his election as president.

Lebrun was ignored but was not publicly blamed for any of the events connected with France's defeat. General Charles De Gaulle, who had come back to France as a liberator—hero, was partly responsible for this. In the fall of 1955 he had what was then described as a "cordial" conference with Lebrun.

Collegian Killed After Killing Wife

TACOMA, Wash., March 6—(AP)—A collegian, tormented by whether to "give his soul to the devil or to God," was killed yesterday after he critically wounded his estranged wife.

Deputy T. C. Tolson said he shot Quinton Pihl as the 22-year-old student tried to run him down with the sheriff's patrol wagon. The deputy and his assistant had placed Pihl in the patrol car while they went to aid his wounded wife who lay nearby.

A neighbor, attempting to assist the officers, was hit in the wrist by the same bullet that killed Pihl.

Pihl shot his wife, Wilma, 22, as she fled from their home. Tolson said the first shot felled her and two other bullets were fired into her body as she lay screaming on the ground.

Six Die in Flames When Home Burns

THORNTON, N. H., March 6—(AP)—An unemployed mill worker and his five young children perished yesterday when fire destroyed their small cottage in this isolated community.

The bodies of Charles H. Smith, 33, and his children, Robert 11; Roberta, 9; James, 7; Sandra, 6; and Wayne, 3, were found in their beds.

Their deaths raised to 20 the number dead in New England fires since last Thursday. Scores of others have been burned or injured.

Smith's wife, Frances, 30, was away visiting neighbors.

Surrounded by Water But Not Drop to Drink

EASTPORT, Me., March 6—(AP)—This city of 3,500, practically surrounded by salt water, was without the fresh variety today.

After two days of abnormal cold, an exposed section of a 10 inch main froze early yesterday.

Fire was the most immediate hazard. Calling the situation critical, Fire Chief Frank L. B. dish kept his men on stand-by status throughout the night.

Contract Signed And Long Strike Comes to an End

Pay Boost Granted; Thousands of Idle Workers Jubilant

PITTSBURGH, March 6—(AP)—The nations soft coal tap creaked open slowly today.

Thousands of laughing diggers, shaking off the effects of a week-end victory, clambered aboard mine carts for their first trip into the pits in more than a month.

But thousands more bowed to tradition and awaited the formality of meeting to hear the official back to work word from John L. Lewis.

Early reports from the field showed this spotty picture:

Pennsylvania—less than half a dozen of the big mines reported operating. The 2400-man Robena Pit—world's largest—scheduled to resume tomorrow. Others expected to start up later today.

West Virginia—At least seven mines in operation.

Ohio—four mines reported operating, but big back-to-work movement expected when afternoon shifts report.

One of the jovial diggers at the Montour No. 10 mine of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. in Liberty, Pa., set the theme when he remarked:

'Cut Out Fooling'
"Let's cut out the fooling. We got a real day's work ahead of us."

Only five hours after Lewis signed a new contract giving his men gains averaging $1.40 a day some of the diggers began trooping back to work. UMW leaders guaranteed all of the 372,000 erst-

Communist Strike In Paris Is Fizzle

PARIS, March 6—(AP)—A Communist-led strike on Paris bus and subway lines today confused — but failed to stop — the gay city's normal life.

In the national assembly, meanwhile, the government this morning shut off a 72-hour-old Red filibuster aimed at killing the anti-sabotage bill.

The strikers were demanding a cost of living bonus. The filibusterers had sought to further a Communist campaign against shipments of Atlantic Pact arms of military aid to French troops in Indochina.

Down town streets were clogged with unusually heavy auto and bicycle traffic. The French army's military police turned out to help keep the traffic untangled.

With most Paris stores closed normally on Monday, the strike's effect on business was minimized. Government ministers managed to get most of their employees to work by special trucks and buses manned by volunteers.

Sid Grauman Dies But Leaves Imprint

HOLLYWOOD, March 6—(AP)—Sid Grauman, whose lavish theater preserves for posterity the footprints of two decades of movie stars, died yesterday at the age of 70.

Death was caused by a heart ailment.

A master showman, he built Grauman's Chinese Theater — where star's footprints are impressed in cement—in 1927. John Barrymore's profile, Jimmy Durante's nose and Betty Grable's legs also are imprinted in the concrete forecourt of the movie house.

Eight Boys Escape From Research Bureau

COLUMBUS, March 6—(AP)—The eight boys who escaped yesterday from the State Bureau of Juvenile Research were identified by police as Ernest Jackson, 14, of Dayton; Donald Straughter, 15, of Columbus; Richard Baker, 15, Union City; Robert L. Schutz, 15, Akron; Albert Scott, 15, Dayton; Ernest Wood, 14, Marysville; Harold Brown, 15, Cincinnati; and Kenneth Kane, 16, Gallion.

Fire Damages Bridge

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., March 6—(AP)—A fire which raged for nearly an hour heavily damaged the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway bridge over the Big Sandy River between Kenova and Cattlesburg, Ky., this morning.

Socialism Ends In Britain Now

Laborite Program Balked by Election

LONDON, March 6—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee's revamped labor government, its power stripped in the last election, shelved further nationalization projects today.

The government's immediate program, disclosed in a speech by King George VI at the opening today of the New Parliament, made no mention of additional nationalization of industries.

The king said his new government—which has a precarious seven-seat majority in the House of Commons—will do its utmost "to assist in finding a durable solution to the tremendous problem of atomic energy so that international agreement for adequate control and supervision of the production of atomic energy may be secured."

UN Gets Support

The king's speech from the throne, prepared by Prime Minister Attlee's cabinet, emphasized that the government will continue to give full support to the United Nations, "for it is only through an effective system of security that world peace can be assured."

Control of the production of atomic energy, the king said, will be attempted through machinery of the United Nations.

Failure to make any reference whatever to nationalization, a program close to the heart of the labor party, seemed to reflect the party's desire to avoid controversial issues in the immediate future. But harmony will not be sought at the expense of the national well-being, the king said.

There will be a limited program of legislation in view of the "heavy volume of financial business to be transacted," he explained.

"Nevertheless, should other measures prove in their (the government's) view to be immediately necessary for the maintenance of full employment and the national well being, my ministers will not hesitate to submit them to Parliament, even though they might seem likely to be contentious," the king said.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

With the March 15 income tax deadline near, you'll appreciate the following, author unknown, published in Pathfinder:

"One score and 16 years ago our fathers brought forth upon this nation a new tax, conceived in desperation and dedicated to the proposition that all men are fair game."

"Now we are engaged in a great mass of calculation testing whether that taxpayer or any taxpayer so confused and so impoverished can long endure. We are met on Form 1040. We have come to dedicate a large portion of our income to a final resting place with those men who here spend their lives that they may spend our money."

"It is altogether anguish and torture that we should do this. But in a legal sense we cannot evade, we cannot cheat, we cannot underestimate this tax. The collectors, clever and sly, who computed here, have gone far beyond our power to add and subtract."

"Our creditors will little note nor long remember what we pay here, but the Bureau of Internal Revenue can never forget what we report here. It is rather for us to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these vanished dollars we take increased devotion to the few remaining, that we here highly resolve that next year will not find us in a higher income tax bracket."

Two-state Manhunt on After Crime Rampage

COLUMBUS, March 6—(AP)—Police in two states intensified a search for an ex-convict and a prison fugitive today after one was captured and then released inadvertently.

Charles Frazier, 27, was nabbed by the State Highway Patrol on a traffic charge near Logan Sunday morning.

The patrol, at the time, had not

Powerful Leftist Elected in Greece

ATHENS, March 6—(AP)—General Nicholas Plastiras, a moustachioed old warrior who drove King Constantine into exile in 1922, emerged today from yesterday's national elections as a powerful new Leftist force in Greek politics.

With nearly one-half of the votes counted, Plastiras' National Progressive Union held a slender lead over the country's two big traditional parties—former Premier Constantin Tsaldaris' conservative Populists (Royallists) and Sophocles Venizelos' moderate Liberals.

Another new leftist party, the Republican Front headed by former Foreign Minister John Sophianopoulos, polled a sizeable vote that surprised most observers. Conservative politicians said that communists—whose party was outlawed as a result of the civil war that ended last fall—turned their support to the Leftist parties.

'Hoodlum Elements' Called Ohio Problem

COLUMBUS, March 6—(AP)—Organized crime and "hoodlum elements" pose the most pertinent problems facing some Ohio cities, Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus said last night in a statement.

The mayor, who is a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, said he would ask an Ohio crime commission be created, should he become Ohio's next governor.

Yeggs Get $2,500

CLEVELAND, March 6—(AP)—Safe-crackers who broke into the National Biscuit Co. warehouse southeast Cleveland, escaped with an estimated $2,500 in cash and an unknown amount in checks, it was reported today. The yeggs burned the lock from an office safe.

Several Here Take Census Examinations

22 Report in Memorial Hall For Morning Quiz

Preliminary work necessary to get the 1950 census taken in Fayette County was undertaken Monday when two groups were examined here for positions as census enumerators.

The first group, consisting of 13 women and nine men, reported to the third floor of the GAR building Monday morning for a 31-question examination. Some 30 persons were tentatively scheduled to take the same exam Monday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Conducting the examinations were Carl J. Ferec, assistant district supervisor from Springfield, and Thomas C. Carr, crew leader from Washington, C. H.

After 25 census enumerators have been selected, a course of instruction, designed for the purpose of acquainting the census people with the duties, will be held beginning March 27.

Following the successful completion of the course, the enumerators will go out into the field April 1 to take the census.

There will be an enumerator assigned to each township and one or more to the various villages. The balance will work in Washington, C. H. Twenty of the enumerators will be supervised by Carr. Ferec said those persons who want to help with the census but who were unable to take the examination Monday should contact Carr to arrange to take the test at some later date.

The 25 census takers here will be among some 140,000 enumerators who will take the 17th decennial census in the United States during 1950.

The enumerators will start April 1. It should take between two and five weeks to complete in Fayette County.

Program Planned At New Martinsburg

The Faithful Classmates of the New Martinsburg Methodist Church today were making plans for a big time Wednesday evening.

An entertainment for the entire church congregation, including all of the Sunday school classes, and two classes from the Sugar Grove Church has been arranged for Grange Hall.

The big affair is to start off with a covered dish supper at 7 P. M. and continue indefinitely.

The program of entertainment is to include both musical numbers and recitations.

There also are to be two principal speakers. Ralph Nisley is expected to take a more serious line in his address and Robert Creamer is expected to turn to humor in his talk. Neither has said what he will take for his subject.

Nisley is prominent in Grange and agricultural affairs in the county and a member of the hospital board. Creamer is a teacher in Jeffersonville High School.

Services Held for William Merritt

Services for William Merritt were held at 2 P. M. Saturday at the Parrett Funeral Home, with Rev. W. H. Wilson in charge.

Rev. Wilson, retired minister of the First Baptist Church, offered prayer, read the scripture and an obituary, delivered the sermon, read the hymn, "Abide With Me" and a poem, "Soft Is the Voice of an Angel."

Mr. and Mrs. Laris Hard sang two hymns, "Beyond the Sunset" and "Old Rugged Cross," with Gladys Sibole accompanying on the piano.

The funeral home was filled to capacity, and the many floral tributes were cared for by the pallbearers, all nephews of the deceased. They were Ernest, Glenn, Herman F. Dale and Herman E. Merritt and William Aleshire.

Burial was made in the Sugar Grove Cemetery on the Greenfield Road.

Brooklyn Mad Killer

Bondolati, 25, police were on his trail. He came upon two young fathers, each with a baby carriage and each bragging about the child inside.

One was James Culhane, 28, a shoe salesman, and the other was Kenneth Kennedy, 23, a Mohawk Indian and construction worker.

Jones plunged the bloody knife into Kennedy's chest. The knife stuck. As Kennedy tried to stagger away, Jones followed and yanked the knife out of his chest.

Kennedy's five-month-old daughter was not molested. Kennedy is in critical condition.

Jones, rearmed, returned to the spot where he had found the two fathers. But Culhane already was on the run, pushing his 15-month-old son.

The madman took a new course on his bloody route. He ripped Annillo Dursio, 61, who died early today.

A few feet farther on, the slayer killed 46-year-old Frank St. George on the spot by plunging the knife into him time and again.

A block away, Jones met a friend, James Years, 20, a Negro and slashed him on the wrist as he waved.

Doubling back on his routes, Jones plunged his knife into John Gordon, 51, killing him, and wounded Jerome Sullivan, 51, so badly he died in a few minutes.

Tax Valuations

ious valuations" which the State Board of Tax Appeals claims are found in the revaluation of real estate made in this county.

The county Board of Revision is composed of Ralph Minton, president of the board of County Commissioners; Charles Fabb, county treasurer, and Ulric T. Acton, county auditor, the latter, under the law, is clerk of the board.

Members of the Fayette County Board of Revision state that their duties are limited to considering only individual complaints made as to any inequalities in the valuation of their property, and any complaints filed as to the valuation of other people's property.

It was stated by the members that their powers do not permit them to go into the alleged discrepancies in valuations as a whole, but when complaints are filed, the board members, stated they would take them up and dispose of them promptly.

Regarding any changes in reappraisal on the part of the county auditor, who, under the law is the chief assessing official in the county, Auditor Acton said that he is proceeding slowly in connection with the matter. With other members of the Board of Revision, he said he will act promptly if and when complaints are filed by anyone not satisfied with the revaluation of property.

Indications are that, due to the reported limited powers, the Board of Revision, can do little about the "widespread irregularities" complained of by the state Board of Tax Appeals when it ordered a sweeping increase in valuations over those submitted by County Auditor Acton in his abstract filed with the board.

had said "there was no indication of life, no reaction," in Mrs. Borroto when he injected the air.

He also said "I never had any intention of killing Mrs. Borroto."

Under questioning by one of his attorneys the defendant said he believed she died of cancer and he so signified on her death certificate.

Asked, then, why he dictated the entry in Mrs. Borroto's record that disclosed the air injection, he replied:

"I think it is the duty of every doctor to put down on the charts what he has done for every patient whether it has any effect or not."

Under further questioning Dr. Sander conceded that he had been taught air in the circulatory system was something to be avoided.

The 41-year-old country doctor said he called for a syringe the morning of last Dec. 4 after he looked at his patient and thought she was dead.

"It was my opinion then that she was dead," Dr. Sander testified in a calm voice. "I can't explain exactly what action I took then. Something snapped. Why I did it I can't tell. It doesn't make sense."

"Did you have any intention of killing Mrs. Borroto?" asked Defense Counsel Ralph E. Langdell.

"I never had any intention of killing Mrs. Borroto," replied the doctor.

Q. Did you ever agree to kill Mrs. Borroto?

A. I never agreed to kill her.

Q. Did you know that you intended to do with the syringe?

A. I do not know what I intended to do. I remember trying to get into her vein.

Q. Was there blood on her arm?

A. There was never any blood anywhere. I tried to get into the vein. I did not use a tourniquet to bring up the vein. Her veins were collapsed.

Dr. Sander said he had a 10 cubic centimeter syringe, and explained:

"I withdrew the plunger to make suction but nothing came out--there was no blood."

"What did you do next?"

"I injected a couple of cc's and I injected a couple more--and nothing happened," replied Sander.

"There was a slight swelling around the needle. I continued to inject small amounts of air until the entire 10 cc's was gone."

Q. Was there any change in her expression at any time?

A. During this entire procedure there was no indication of life, no reaction.

Dr. Sander said he recalled telling the nurse on duty--Elizabeth Rose--only about the syringe and something to the effect that Mrs. Borroto "had gone."

Q. When did you fill out the death certificate?

A. I think the following Monday.

Q. What did you certify as the cause of death?

A. I signified she died of cancer.

Q. You believe she died of cancer?

A. I do.

Q. If you believed air embolism caused her death would you have dictated that in your entries on the case?

A. I would have.

Langdell then asked him when he dictated the entry that disclosed the air injection.

And Dr. Sander replied:

"I think it is the duty of every doctor to put down on the charts what he has done for every patient whether it has any effect or not."

Langdell then asked why he had noted on the post-mortem chart that Mrs. Borroto had expired in

A. I told her air had no effect on the patient's death--that somebody might try to make something (of the notation).

Dr. Sander said he gave the matter no further thought until Dec. 29. On that day, he said, he was confronted at the hospital by County Medical Referee Robert E. Biron.

"Did he ask you what Mrs. Borroto died of?" asked Langdell.

"I told him cancer of the large bowel and metastasis of the liver," replied Dr. Sander.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, March 6—(AP)—It was an amazing Friday. In the morning, no end to the coal strike in sight. By evening, all but over.

In one day John L. Lewis and the mine owners accomplished more than in all the months since last May, when they started their haggling.

Why? You can guess: the failure of the Taft-Hartley act and the gimmicks in the president's message yesterday probably turned the trick.

Since last May, by working only three days a week and then by striking, the miner had been cutting down the nation's coal supply.

The more than supply sinks and the greater the national crisis, the better the position of the miners in getting the owners to meet their demands.

That's because, in crisis, there's tremendous public pressure for a settlement, not only on the miners but on the owners as well. That's true up to a point. The point is the Taft-Hartley act. Under that, in time of crisis, the government can ask a court to order the strike's end.

Under that procedure, if the workers disobey, the judge can wreck the union by fining it hugely for contempt—if there is evidence to show the union kept the workers away.

In this case the government got the court order. But the miners, taking a fierce gamble on the future of their union, disobeyed.

(If they had obeyed and begun mining new supplies of coal, all their sacrifice of millions of dollars in lost pay up to now would have been wasted. Their strike would be smashed.)

The miners won their gamble. The judge said there was no evidence that the union kept the men away.

That was a great victory for Lewis' men and a blow to the mine owners' hope of winning. It must have weakened the owner's desire. To continue the fight whose end no one could foresee. The owners already had lost millions of dollars by the shut-down. And, if the miners wouldn't return under a court order, there was no assurance they'd ever return, no matter what the government tried unless the owners met their terms.

There might, though, be one hope: if the government seized the mines. Then a strike would be a strike under those circumstances, the public pressure no longer would be applied equally to owners and miners but would be concentrated on the miners.

It would be doubly nice for the owners if the miners went to work for the government at their old pay, and got no higher pay, while the owners ran their own mines and kept all their profits.

Then around noon Friday President Truman prepared a message to Congress asking for power to seize the mines. He did more than that.

He asked for power to set up two boards—one to decide what was a fair wage for the miners and the other to decide what was a fair profit for the owners.

Suppose Congress okayed that. Then if the miners went back to work and the board decided their old pay was right and their de-

Tongue-twister Name Adopted By Red Conquerors of China

By JOHN GOETTE
Written for Central Press and This Newspaper
THE OLDEST NATION on earth has come up with the newest government boasting the longest official designation in the world today. China's Communist regime at Peiping has a full nine ideographs or words to its name as compared with the four of the United States of America.

For convenience of non-Chinese, the infant Peiping administration refers to itself in English as the Peoples Republic of China, but that is a cut-rate rendition of the proper translation.

In official documents it insists upon being addressed as the Central Flowery Peoples Republic National government.

Red leader Mao Tze-tung and his fellows are resentful when their bayonet-imposed regime is referred to as that Chinese "Communist" government.

FOR 22 YEARS Mao has directed the Chinese Communist party and its Red army on an out-and-out Marxian-Leninist basis. Now with victory at hand, he emphasizes the "people" rather than Communism where external government trappings are concerned. In Chinese, the Peiping administration is the Chung Hua Jen Min Kung Ho Kuo Cheng Fu which undeniably is a trying tongue-twister even for China experts in our State department.

Word for word, this record title translates jerkily as central, flowery, people, people public, share-alike, country, administration, headquarters. This, of course, is easier to understand in Chinese than in its English equivalent.

Besides its unique wordiness among world government names, it is noteworthy in that Mao Tze-tung deliberately evades the Chinese term Kung Chang, long used to identify the Chinese Communist party. This translates portendingly as "sharing the property."

Although Mao Tze-tung controls the Communist Red army which always has been known as the Hung Chun, precisely the words "red" and "army," this, like Communism, is now ignored in favor of peoples government, peoples army, and even the new national currency called "peoples notes."

MAO TZE-TUNG innocently gave the kiss of irony to our own Republican party when he christened his revolutionary government.

The name the Chinese first gave our Republics, now so dead set against recognition of Mao's regime, is included in the latest Peiping tongue-twister.

Wits in the Democratic party, badgered by Republican charges of Washington's failures in Asia, might be tempted to dub Peiping the Central Flowery Peoples GOP National government.

Adding insult to this Republican injury, the Chinese name for the American minority translates as the Public share-alike party. Only a Chinese punster would think that fitting in view of the last 18 years, so lean for hungry GOP politicians.

Mrs. J. W. Flax Rites on Tuesday

Mrs. Flora Flax, 71, widow of J. W. Flax, died Saturday at 1 P. M. at her home in Jeffersonville where she had lived for a number of years. She had been in ill health for some time.

Moose Lodge Inducts 14 Here Sunday

Fourteen candidates were inducted into the Moose Lodge here at a ceremony held at the lodge hall Sunday afternoon.

The degree staff of Columbus Lodge No. 11, headed by John FitzMartin, performed the ritualistic work.

Those who were inducted into the lodge included Edward Lyons, Joseph Daugherty, Alfred Mason, Charles Dawes Jr., Robert L. Hall, Maroner Pucett, Glenn Upperman, John Phillips, C. J. Taylor, Edward Shadley, Wilbert Matson, Aaron Bennett, Otis Lucey and Kenneth Dawes.

Harold Shafer, state director of Moose Lodges, gave the principal talk. He told the story of Mooseheart, "a home for children and their mothers in Mooseheart, Ill."

Shafer told how some families of from four to nine youngsters are admitted to the home.

Following the induction ceremony, some 120 persons were feted at a dinner. On the menu were the following items: baked ham, sweet potatoes, green peas, cranberry sauce, celery, pan rolls, butter and coffee.

The population of Venezuela is about 4,500,000.

East Monroe

C. W. Thompson has moved to the farm he recently purchased from the George E. Simmons estate. Harold Washburn, in turn, occupied the home vacated by Thompson.

Otis Smith has purchased a small farm near Chillicothe and will move there in the near future.

The Women's Society of Christian Service met at the home of Mrs. Anna McKinney last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, of Rushville, Ind., spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. Bessie Smith.

Mrs. George Swift has been quite sick, but is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Basford announce the birth of a daughter. Mrs. Basford is the former Elizabeth Smith, who lived north of town.

Red Officers Rush To Buy Busts of Hitler

BERLIN—(AP)—Russian officers are the best customers of a man who earns his living in Berlin today by making bronze busts of Adolf Hitler. In an obscure cellar shop in Berlin's Soviet sector works the sculptor Kurt Fall, the man who makes the best of the Russian's hunt for Nazi souvenirs.

Fall sells Adolf Hitler "full face" and "profile" to Soviet officers who are about to go back to Russia.

Two Students From County Place at OSU

Two Ohio State University students from Fayette County were among the place winners in the "Little International" Livestock Show held at Plumb Hall on the OSU campus Saturday before almost 1,000 spectators.

Charles Dray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Dray of near Washington C. H., and William Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis of Fayette County, took seconds in the judging.

Dray was runner-up in the dairy showmanship competition out of a class of 32 entries while Davis was second in the slaughter contest.

The "Little International" is an annual affair presented by the Saddle and Sirlin Club, whose members are students in the department of animal husbandry at Ohio State.

Willard Bitzer, also of Fayette County, was the judge of the sheep showmanship contest.

Among some of those from Fayette County who attended the show were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bitzer, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Dray and family, Miss Dixie Lee Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haigler and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Montgomery.

Barton Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Montgomery, was chairman of the Smith-Hughes judging contest held during the day.

Sledge Hammer Like Blows in Stomach Stop: Man Returns to Job

"I was old before my age. I suffered from agonizing pains in my stomach which felt as though it had been beaten with a sledge hammer. No wonder I had to quit work." So says a man living here in Washington, C. H. Due to excess stomach acidity most everything would sour on my stomach, gas always kept me bloated and I had such terrible heartburn that I was unable to sleep at night. I was truly a miserable man. I got Ead-All and from the very first dose improvement began. Soon I could again eat a substantial meal and enjoy a good night's rest. Now I'm back to work.

Ead-All is a new medicine that goes right to work giving symptomatic relief from burning stomach and awful gas pains resulting from hyper-acidity. Miserable people soon feel different. Don't go on suffering, get Ead-All. Sold by Downtown Drug Co. Adv.

Television Cameras Developing New Tricks

NEW YORK--(AP)--The television camera, heart of which is an electron tube, is beginning to develop tricks that outtrick the movie cameras.

For instance, it can take one-half an image while a companion camera supplies the other half, thus putting two images on the screen at the same time.

Also it can make it look like a person can walk through a solid wall, and accomplish numerous other seeming impossibilities.

Crime Syndicates and Federal Policing

The average law-abiding individual citizen, whether here in Fayette County, or in most any other place in our country, is not very keen about a huge federal government police force.

Reports from police state countries have added materially to the sentiment against such big scale organizations for this country. A huge federal force of this kind is one of the things that most Americans are happy to get along without. One of the physical privileges we have prized here has been freedom from that type of federal authority.

We are glad to know that this country has a small but efficient force of people employed in the Federal Bureau of Investigation and a group of U. S. Treasury special agents who go quietly and efficiently about their work; the ordinary citizen is seldom aware of them or comes into contact with them.

The reading of a reasonably reliable first-hand report of life in any of the police states of current times should be sufficient to refresh for Americans the desire to keep our federal police operations restricted to specific, closely defined fields of criminal activity.

Investigations now brewing, including one by a U. S. Senate committee, might at any time develop into an expose of sectional and nationwide crime syndicate operation on a shocking scale. It has long been rumored that such syndicates exist; if competent investigators begin delving into these rumors they might find nothing more than that, or they might find that the rumors pale into insignificance beside the facts. If substantial crime syndicate activity should be uncovered, there unquestionably would be strong sentiment for new federal laws and a greatly enlarged federal police system to cope with the syndicates.

Maybe there is no way to avoid such an outcome. In this connection, however, we ought to be very sure that local authority has been used to the utmost, with vigor, courage and initiative. We ought to be sure that federal police will never have to be sent into our community except to deal with criminal organizations which really are so big as to be beyond the possibility of local control.

Radio Ratings

The mystery surrounding the methods of rating network radio programs according to popularity has now been cut in half. The Hooper rating service, perhaps the more widely known of two systems, has been discontinued as far as network programs are concerned, and its contracts have been turned over to the other system, operated by the A. C. Nielsen Company.

This ends a long controversy in the broadcasting industry as to which system more accurately reported the listener acceptance of network shows, but the listener probably will continue to wonder how in the world this program became rated high enough to retain a sponsor while that program, to which he used to listen faithfully, has been eased off the air.

No polling system is accurate except on a basis of averages, and averages are deceptive except in the hands of highly skilled statisticians. The reports of a poll will not match any individual's likes and dislikes except by unusual coincidence. Nor does it sample the opinions of a very large part of the public. You never were called by the Hooper system? Neither were most of the other people in the country. Your chance of a contact with the Nielsen system is even smaller—it collects information by means of recording gadgets attached to radios in selected homes. We'll just have to go on wondering how some "hams" stay on the air.

A World Explorer at Age of 92

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(AP)—If I had to pick a hero-of-the-year this early in 1950, it would be Mr. Fredrick W. Theilmann.

At 92, this retired Minneapolis undertaker has set a stalwart example for a faint-hearted age.

Lugging a movie camera and 1,200 feet of film, the energetic monogamian has flown to Europe on a three-month trip by air around the world.

It is the first time he has ever left this country, but Theilmann isn't running away from atom bombs, bad times, the sheriff or anything or anybody else.

He is going on an Indian summer voyage of adventure, and in a very humble spirit.

"I am making this trip in the hope that I may learn more than I already know, God willing," he said.

And, God also willing, he'll come back fresher in mind and younger in heart than millions of Americans one third his age.

It is a gallant thing to be curious and venturesome at 92. It proves anew, what all physicians know, that old age isn't a matter of the years of the bone so much as the depth of the moss on the soul.

What led Theilmann to make this epic pilgrimage I can't tell. Perhaps it was because in his work as an undertaker he made too many trips to the cemetery with people who ended up there early because they lost the zest for living.

In any case the fatigue of our times, the neurotic fear of the future that afflicts so many young and middle-aged people today, seems not to have touched him at all. In his long life he has survived three wars, numerous bitter depressions, known death in his family—and still he's an eager beaver. He wants to know more about life.

I don't think he's too unusual an old man for all that. It has been my experience that old people as a group face life with more courage, and retain a deeper, abiding interest in it, than younger people. After all, their courage and strength has carried them through the test of time—they are the ones who won their way through all troubles. The weaker sank.

And there is distinguished precedent for the exploration voyage of the late-season Ulysses from Minneapolis. Cato took up the study of Greek at 80, and our own Benjamin Franklin was still learning—and earning—when death took him.

I once knew a young university professor who sneered at one of his elderly students, a retired preacher who wanted a master's degree in order to start a new career as an English instructor.

"The man is just foolish and wasting his time and mine," the professor said.

A few years later the professor took a dry dive out a window and ended up dead. Life was too much for him. But the last I heard of the old minister he was happily teaching English.

Theilmann's example should stir many old people to take heart to go ahead and do the things they really want to do in the time they have left. And as a bon voyage message, I can't think of anything better than Tennyson's poem, quoting the philosophy of the original Ulysses in his later years:

"The deep moans round with many voices. Come, my friends, 'tis not too late to seek a newer world. It may be we shall touch the happy isles, and see the great Achilles, whom we knew."

Hal Boyle is going on an Indian summer voyage of adventure, and in a very humble spirit.

Harold Ware, Master Conspirator

By George Sokolsky

In the Hiss case—and this will be true of other cases yet to come—the name of Harold Ware comes into the story as the mastermind in a vast conspiracy to infiltrate our government. Harold Ware is dead, but the cell he organized in 1934 continues to be a national problem.

A former classmate and intimate friend of Harold Ware at Penn State wrote me recently.

"I visited him several times while he lived at the single Tax Colony at Arden, Delaware at which times I met his mother, at that time a very dynamic intelligent woman. The residents of Arden were a queer lot. You would call them intelligent, but all seemed to have queer ideas about economics and politics."

He continued: "They usually had a town meeting on Saturday night, when they discussed all manner of subjects. They called themselves socialists then, and I remember they used to stress the point, that the way to gain control of the government was to get their people into key positions in the various departments in Washington."

After the Bolshevik revolution in 1917, Harold Ware and some of his friends decided to go to that country to teach the Russians how to improve agriculture, which they did.

The aforesaid friend concludes: "...I can't think that he (Harold Ware) originally thought of betraying his country. He was like the other socialists I have met. They think sincerely that state socialism would be good for the country. If by any means at their command they can bring it to pass they feel that they will have done a service to their country. That is the dangerous angle to communism. The cunning Russians have played on their credulity and are using them to undermine our country and weaken it. It is too bad that Ware wasn't killed before he organized his cell."

"It seems almost unbelievable how much mischief has been accomplished, and how much more is in the making."

Harold Ware at one time was married to Jessica Smith who is editor of "Soviet Russia Today." After Ware's death, Jessica Smith became the wife of John Abt, who has had an interesting career in the government of the United States and who refused to testify before a congressional committee as to communist affiliations on constitutional grounds.

Harold Ware's mother, often referred to as Mother Bloor, is really Ella Reeve Ware Omholt. A leading communist, a member of the party's national committee and for a number of years also on its politbureau, Mother Bloor has become an elder statesman of American communism, her

Diet and Health

Food Is Important
As a Medicine, Too

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

CIRRHOSIS of the liver is a condition in which some of the liver cells die and are replaced by scar tissue.

The exact cause of this disorder is not known, but today we feel pretty sure that it is less likely to occur in those who eat an adequate and well-balanced diet. For many years it was thought that the excessive use of alcohol caused the liver changes which finally result in cirrhosis. Now we believe that alcohol is a factor only because those who drink to excess usually fail to get enough of all the necessary kinds of foods to protect the liver.

Food Important

When it comes to treatment of cirrhosis of the liver, food is the one important "medicine." In other words, most doctors now believe that the best treatment consists in a diet which contains an abundance of those foods needed by the liver. In most instances, the diet prescribed is one low in fat. A too low fat diet is not very palatable and it discourages the patient from taking enough food to overcome his difficulty.

Some patients with cirrhosis of the liver have a poor appetite so that feeding by a tube passed into the stomach may be necessary until the appetite returns. In addition to natural foods, such as milk and meat, food supplement such as protein milk drinks made from skimmed milk powder, Brewer's yeast powder, and liver extracts are employed.

(Copyright, 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The liver may be administered by mouth or by injection into a muscle.

The diet should also be supplemented by the necessary amounts of vitamins. However, the giving of excessive quantities of vitamins, particularly the one known as niacin, it is thought may be harmful.

Protection of Liver

Choline, which is part of the B-complex, and methionine, one of the amino acids which make up proteins, seem to be particularly important in the protection of the liver. In many cases, these can be supplied in adequate amounts by using the proper diet. In other cases, they might have to be taken by mouth or by injection into a muscle.

Persons can aid in protecting the liver by making sure that they use a well-balanced diet at all times. Should cirrhosis develop, the patient may live out his normal life span if he abstains from alcoholic beverages until it clears up and continues to eat as he should.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. B.: Is there any cure for chronic hepatitis?

Answer: Hepatitis refers to inflammation of the first part of the large bowel. This is a form of colitis.

A permanent cure can be brought about in most types of colitis by means of proper treatment. The treatment consists of sufficient rest, a simple diet without too much roughage, regular living, and moderate exercise.

Coldiron-Ford Marriage Vows Read Sunday

Miss Freda Ester Coldiron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coldiron, became the bride of Mr. Kenneth P. Ford son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ford, on Sunday afternoon March 5 at an open church wedding in the First Baptist Church.

Seven branch candelabra, with lighted white tapers and cathedral baskets of white carnations and gladioli on the altar with candles and fern in each window of the church, made up the decorations.

Presiding the ceremony Misses Barbara Junkins and Barbara Tracey lighted the candles and at two o'clock, Miss Clarabelle Robinson soloist and Miss Mary Sue Belles, pianist presented a half hour of nuptial music.

Miss Robinson included in her numbers, "O Promise Me," "De Koven," "I Love You Truly," "Carrie Jacobs Bond," "I Love Thee," "Greig," and "I Love Thee" D'Hardelot. Miss Belles' selections included "Moonlight Sonata," "Beeethoven," "Romance," "Rubenstein," "Berceuse," "Godard," "Ave Maria," "Schubert," and during the ceremony, she played softly, "To A Wild Rose" - McDowell.

As the hands of the clock approached three the bride was preceded to the altar by her maid of honor, a sister Miss Wanda Coldiron, where they were joined by the groom and his best man a brother Mr. Robert Ford of Columbus.

Ushers seating the guests were Mr. Charles Ford, Mr. Dave Ford, Mr. J. Howard Ford brothers of the groom and Mr. John W. Burr. Rev. Francis McCarty read the double ring ceremony and the bride chose for her marriage an ankle length dress of white lace and nylon net, fashioned along simple lines, the bodice featuring an off the shoulder, neckline long pointed sleeves, and full skirt. Her shoulder length veil was held in place with a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and pink roses.

The maid of honor was wearing a pink lace ankle length dress and pink flowers in her hair. She carried a bouquet of yellow daffodils.

The bride's mother was wearing an afternoon dress of coffee rose lace accented with brown accessories and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Blue Ford was dressed in navy blue crepe afternoon dress with black and white accessories and her corsage was of pink roses.

A reception at the Washington Coffee Shop, followed the ceremony and the bride's table, lace cloth covered, was centered with a four tiered wedding cake, surrounded at the base with pink roses and smilax, flanked with combination candelabra flower vases in crystal filled with spring flowers and lighted white tapers. The silver service was presided over by Misses Martha Burnett and Barbara Tracey, with Mrs. Robert L. Ford and Miss Marjorie Peterson as assistant hostesses.

When the new Mr. and Mrs. Ford left on a honeymoon through the southern states the bride was wearing a teal blue tailored suit, with brown accessories and the white rose corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Upon their return they will reside in this city.

The bride is a graduate of Washington C. H. High School, and is now employed as a clerk in the City Auditor's Office.

The groom a graduate of Madison Mills High School, is engaged in the trucking business.

Bookwalter Ladies Aid Meets

Mrs. Harry Allen entertained the members of the Bookwalter Ladies Aid for the regular meeting. The president Mrs. Charles Seibert conducted the business session opening with devotionals in charge of Miss Marib Bruce. The repeating of the Lord's Prayer was followed with the reading of a hymn by Mrs. Jean Warner. The usual reports were read and eleven members responded to roll call.

Misses Sarah and Marib Bruce were program leaders and conducted contests. Later the hostess assisted by Mrs. Elsworth Vannorsdall served a dainty refreshment course suggestive of St. Patrick.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in watching television. Guests included were Mrs. A. F. Ervin and Miss Gay Warner. At the April meeting at the home of Mrs. Marvin Stockwell, the members are asked to come at 12 noon, and bring salads or desserts. They are requested also to wear house dresses. Television programs will feature this meeting and "Mystery Sisters" will be revealed.

New Martinsburg WCTU Meets

The members of the New Martinsburg WCTU assembled at the home of Mrs. Omar Sturgeon for the regular March meeting and she was assisted in the hospitalities by Mrs. Eldon Bethards.

Mrs. Floyd Jett led in the opening devotional service and the group sang the hymn "O Worship The King."

Her subject was "Ministry Of Praise," and she read scripture from Psalms.

The hymn "Revive Us Again," a circle of prayer and the doxology closed this service. The usual reports were heard and special reports of 17 pieces of mail, 16 calls made five bouquets and two food donations were given by the members.

Mrs. George Pleasant was program leader, and presented Miss Lenna Grice, reading an article "God Is The Author of Material." Mrs. Raymond Glover read "World's WCTU Convention Tour In England."

"Moonshining On The Wane," was read by Mrs. Bethards, and "Let Us Be Building a House With A Solid Foundation," was read by Mrs. Sturgeon, "Live Cleanly," by Mrs. Floyd Jett, and "Which, A Helping Or Selfish Life," by Mrs. George Pleasant.

During the social hour the hostess served tempting refreshments.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Floyd Jett, assisted by Mrs. Raymond Glover and the program leader will be Mrs. George Anderson.

Miss Ruth Wiseman and Mr. Carl Grunewald, of Columbus, spent Sunday with Miss Wiseman's parents, Dr. and Mrs. O. L. Wiseman, in Jeffersonville.

Mr. John Bock has returned from a three month's stay in Sanford, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren D. Hynes were in Columbus to attend a dinner at the Ohio State Grange Home, preceding a meeting of the executive committee of the Ohio State grange.

The postponed meeting of Cecilians will be held at the home of Mrs. George Pensyl, on Wednesday, March 22. Mrs. Howard Maurer of Springfield is to be the guest artist.

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Miss Betty Frey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Frey, of Parrott's Station, to Mr. Maynard Eugene Dowler was an event of Wednesday, March 1. The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Clarence Timberman at his home on Broadway.

After using steel wool put it on a radiator to dry to prevent rusting.

Couple Honored At Dinner Party And Shower

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Frost, nee Grace Humphries, were the honor guests on Saturday evening when the associates of the City Loan Company entertained with a chow mein dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul VanVoorhis.

The occasion was planned as a complete surprise to the couple who were greeted with a shower of rice upon their arrival. The home throughout was decorated with spring flowers, and the table seating the group for the tempting meal was centered with a two-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, flanked with arrangements of spring flowers and candles.

Following the congenial dinner hour, a wheelbarrow filled with lovely gifts, was brought into the living room, where they were presented Mr. and Mrs. Frost, who made gracious response.

In addition to the honor guests and the guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Francis Doran, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Presfield, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bogue, Mr. and Mrs. Robert County Agent and Mrs. W. W. Montgomery were in Columbus Saturday evening to attend the "Little International" at Plumb Hall, on the Ohio State University campus.

The "Little International" is sponsored by the animal husbandry students of the college of agriculture.

Mr. J. J. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong and family, Mr. Ralph Mitter, Mrs. Anna McKinney, of Dayton, Mr. Sam Parkinson, of Sabina, Mr. and Mrs. George Turney, Mr. Charles Turney and Mrs. Jessie Turney, of Columbus, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elza Long, coming especially to visit with Mr. Long, who has been ill for the past two months.

Miss Phyllis Page, student at Ohio State University, Columbus, spent the weekend as the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wikel.

Mr. Paul Lucas of Lebanon, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stephan and Miss Edna Moon of Columbus, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lucas.

Mr. J. H. Persinger, Mrs. L. L. Brock and Mrs. Willard Willis, who spent the past few days as guests at the Palmer House, in Chicago, Ill., were accompanied home Saturday by Dr. J. H. Persinger, who spent the past two

Mrs. McClure Honored at Birthday Party

When Mrs. John McClure came home from church Sunday, she was greeted by nearly two score of old friends singing "Happy Birthday."

It was a complete surprise. When she finally finished receiving the greetings of the excited and merry well-wishers and went on into her home near East Monroe, she found the table set and loaded with everything for dinner from the baskets the guests had brought with them.

In the center of the table was a big birthday cake on a musical base. As the cake turned slowly, the traditional birthday tune of "Happy Birthday" was played by the base.

The afternoon was spent in taking pictures for the family albums and watching the television shows.

Coming from Dayton for the gay affair were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Brown and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Brown and son, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Brown. From Fairborn came Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bond; Mr. and Mrs. Grover Brown, Jr., and daughter and Mrs. T. L. Hamilton. Mr. and Mrs. Asa Potts and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hidy were there from Bloomington and Mr. and Mrs. Williams came from Jeffersonville. And guests from Washington C. H. were Mrs. Mary Corwell; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Knisley; Miss Louella Knisley and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chenoweth.

Mrs. McClure expressed her appreciation for the gifts that had been brought after the dinner.

Hunting License Hike Proposed

Ohio Sportsmen In Annual Meeting

COLUMBUS, March 6--(AP)--The League of Ohio Sportsmen ended its 42nd annual meeting yesterday by electing officers and passing a number of resolutions. One recommendation would have the price of hunting licenses raised from $1 to $2. The sportsmen also favor exclusive use by the wildlife division of the State Department of Natural Resources of Hunting and Fishing License Revenues.

The league also advocated:

1. Opposition to the Columbia Valley authority and similar authorities;
2. An increase in federal funds for conservation in Alaska;
3. An increase of $150,000 in federal money for fish and wildlife disease research;
4. Legislation to declare the fox a "game and fur-bearing animal";
5. Free fishing licenses for blind Ohioans, and
6. A reciprocal fishing license fee arrangement between Ohio and adjoining states.

Maurice Kocher of Toledo was elected president, succeeding J. Frank Atwood, Columbus attorney. Sam Weirick of Lancaster was named treasurer and P. M. Jones of Ravenna secretary.

Outdoor Writers of Ohio, meeting at the same time, chose G. B. Times Signal as their president, to succeed Lou Klewer of the Toledo Blade.

Other officers are Carl Deblom of the Columbus Dispatch, vice president; R. B. Howard and associates, Columbus, re-elected secretary-treasurer; Robert E. Minshall of Washington C. H., assistant secretary-treasurer, and the following directors:

Klewer, George Laycock of the Farm Quarterly of Cincinnati; Erwin A. Bauer of the Ironton Tribune, and William Kah, assistant editor of the Ohio Conservation Bulletin, Columbus.

Red Pitchers Good In Intra-Squad Game

TAMPA, Fla., March 6--(AP)--An intra-squad game lacks a lot of being a regular season tilt but Ken Raffensberger and Herman Wehmeier used one of those family affairs yesterday to give Manager Luke Sewell of the Cincinnati Reds a very pleasant Sunday. Raffensberger and Wehmeier, counted on heavily to help lead the Reds out of seventh place in the National League, did a right fancy job of pitching in the opening intra-squad contest of spring training.

The veteran "Raffy" needed only 17 pitches to retire the side in the one inning he hurled, as Tony Cuccinello's team beat one headed by Gus Mancuso, 6 to 5.

Wehmeier, pitching for the losers, faced 11 men and gave up only one hit. He had a pair of strikeouts as he mixed up a good fast ball with a change of pace.

Bobana Bowlers Lose Three Games

Bobana Farms bowling team was whitewashed in its Sunday bowling match, but put up some tough opposition.

Both teams started with their best efforts, but consistency turned the trick for the victors.

Two Teams in Tie In Couples League

The Producers pulled themselves up into a tie for first place in the Couples League when they won two out of three from the first place Laundrymen in Sunday's bowling matches on the Bowland lanes.

Love's Welders kept pace with the leaders by winning two out of three from Jean's Marketeers although they were nosed out 1767 to 1761 in total pins.

Hall's Upholsterers won the first and last games from Anderson's Drive-inners when the two trailers got together. D. Hille's 594 gave the Upholsterers their big lift.

By winning the last two games from the M & L Printers, the Pure Pointers took a little firmer hold on fifth place.

Columbus Aquinas, the team that barely got by the WHS Lions at the Class A district tournament last Thursday night by a 46-45 score, barely got by Columbus West Saturday night, 46-45, in the quarter-finals.

Aquinas will meet Columbus North, conqueror of Bexley, 55-49, Wednesday night, in the semi-finals. Columbus East, winner over Columbus Rosary, 66-45, will face Grandview, who beat Columbus St. Charles, 57-36.

Good Hope Teams Top Grange League

Good Hope's two entries in the Grange League today continued to set the pace in the bowling race after each won two out of three games in Saturday night's matches at Bowland.

The town's No. 1 team, which leads the procession, took the first and last games from the Madison Specials and the No. 2 team won the last two games from the Madison Aces after dropping the opener.

The Fayette Masters kept their grip on third place by winning the last two from the Madison Hustlers and Madison Boosters, sprang a surprise from their cellar position by winning the last two games from the Fayette Executives.

Haines and Carman Win Mixed Doubles

Miss Frances Haines and Bob Carman today held the championship of Sunday's mixed doubles in bowling battles at Bowland. And they split the $12 cash first prize.

They took the honors with a total of 1707, including a 232 pin handicap, for the required four games.

In second place, were Mrs. Bob Carman and Carl Noon. They tallied 1656, with a 212 handicap, to take down the $8 second place purse.

Mrs. Lillie Williams and Ronnie Cornwell finished in third place and got $5.60 with a total of 1625, including their 256 pin handicap.

The other 13 entries (handicaps in parenthesis) in the tourney finished in this order:

Miss Verna Williams and Em-rum (Fat) Lynch (188)	1585;
Miss Judy Wackman and John-ny Speakman (276)	1576;
Mrs. Rachael Urton and Ray Warner (220)	1573;
Mr. and Mrs. Leo Evans (312)	1561;
Mr. and Mrs. C. Starr (276)	1551;
Mrs. Wayne Shobe and Bob Hughes (296)	1544;
Mr. and Mrs. Bob Whitaker (272)	1540;
Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Noon (260)	1521;
Mr. and Mrs. Gene McLean (292)	1518;
Mrs. Edna Brown and E. Stan-ford (320)	1503;
Mr. and Mrs. R. Hall (452)	1476;
Mr. and Mrs. Ted Warner (252)	1440;
Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCoy (316)	1404.

WCH Moose in SWO Loop Opener Here

The Washington C. H. Moose baseball team will take the field against Wilmington in the opener of the Southwestern Ohio Baseball League at Wilson Field on April 30.

Manager Alva Hatfield, of the Moose nine, announced the opener after representatives of ten ball teams assembled at Wilmington Sunday night to complete arrangements for the 1950 horsehide season.

Jeffersonville will have an entry in the field, taking the place of the Good Hope team.

Kentucky Cagers Snubbed by NCAA

NEW YORK, March 6--(AP)--Baron Adolph Rupp, the Kentucky Wildcats, is yelling "foul" today but it won't do any good. North Carolina State, not Kentucky, will carry Dixie's colors into the NCAA basketball tournament.

The bluegrass coach wanted to try again for a "grand slam" this year in the NCAA and the national invitation tournament. He has to settle for just the NIT.

The Carolinians (24-5) got their invitation from the District Three (south) selection committee "because Kentucky declined to meet North Carolina State in a play-off."

It's All The Same To Switch-hitter

TUCSON, Ariz., March 6--(AP)--Right-handed pitching, left-handed pitching—it's all the same to Thurman Tucker.

The veteran outfielder decided to experiment in switch hitting yesterday. He clouted a home run and a single batting right-handed and a double and a single batting left, driving in four runs in an intra-squad game here at the Tribe's spring training camp.

The bespectacled Texan explained nonchalantly, "I asked (Lou) Boudreau if it was all right if I tried switch hitting, and he told me to go ahead and try it."

District Tourneys Next for Cagers

COLUMBUS, March 6--(AP)--The "silly seasonals"—as some of the boys term them—are out of the way, so Ohio's high school basketball tournaments settled down to a saner basis today.

District play, in which qualifiers for next week's regional meets will be named, was under way all over the state.

Sectional qualifiers on a "close to home" basis ended Saturday in the northwestern class A, northeastern class B, and both classes in the eastern district. All the other districts tossed their talents into single events leading straight through to the regionals.

The team finishing first in the National Hockey League standings has gone on to win the Stanley Cup six times in the last 11 seasons.

Business Indicators

Turn Upward in Ohio

COLUMBUS, March 6--(AP)--Ohio business indicators turned upward during December last year, Ohio State University's bureau of business research reported today.

The report--compiled in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics--covered more than 4,200 firms within the state.

The report stated:

December payrolls and man-hours worked climbed four percent over November levels. Employment gained three percent and average weekly earnings went up one percent to $55.04.

All indicators, however, showed declines in comparison with figures of December, 1948. For the

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

SHAYNE snapped the encyclopedia shut. There it was again! Every time he began formulating a theory, he got hit in the face with the fact that star rubies cannot be produced artificially.

He got up and replaced the offending volume, reminding himself that it was quite as old set and might not contain the newest scientific information available.

Walter Voorland was the man to talk to. He probably knew as much about the subject as any man living.

Standing there thoughtfully smoking a cigarette while the Negro went to inform the jeweler that he had an early visitor.

He smoked two cigarettes before Voorland showed up in a gray bathrobe and sandals, his ruddy face shining with good health and the effects of a cold shower.

"Shayne!" he exclaimed. "I suppose it's something about the bracelet you recovered?"

"Not quite," Shayne walked over to a table and crushed out the cigarette. "Sorry to bother you so early, but I need a little help."

"Not at all. Glad to help any way at all. What sort of information do you want?"

"The present successful process is known as the Verneuil Process and was perfected by Professor Verneuil in nineteen hundred and two. He had been working on it with others for many years. Ebelman, Fremy and Peil, Elsmar and Debray. The making of artificial rubies attracted more scientists than other gems because rubies have the peculiar property of losing color under great heat, only to regain it when they cool. Other gems do not regain their natural color after excessive heat."

Turning back toward the bedroom door, he was met by Miss Naylor who came out and closed the door gently but firmly. "Miss Hamilton has gone to sleep again. Rest and quiet is all she needs now."

"Will you be able to stay here with her?"

"Dr. Price will be looking in soon. If he can't get a relief nurse, I can rest here on the couch with the door open so I'll hear her if she calls. Get along with your detecting if that's what you want to do," she ended with a bright smile.

"Do you know how to shoot a revolver?" Shayne asked.

Miss Naylor went over to the table and picked up the heavy rummy, released the cylinder and swung it out, revealing six cartridges. She snapped the cylinder back and lifted it with one hand.

"Nice balance," she said. "Most of these double-actions don't carry enough weight in the muzzle."

"The first successful method was to take small, inferior Burma gems and grind them into a fine powder. By subjecting this powder to terrific heat and pressure, the powdered stones were fused into one large one. Actually, a real ruby was every chemical property still intact. Nothing added and nothing taken away."

Voorland paused and chewed his gum while Shayne waited for him to continue.

"Do you know how to shoot a revolver?" Shayne asked.

Miss Naylor went over to the table and picked up the heavy rummy, released the cylinder and swung it out, revealing six cartridges. She snapped the cylinder back and lifted it with one hand.

"Nice balance," she said. "Most of these double-actions don't carry enough weight in the muzzle."

"Amazing," said Shayne. "Do all trained nurses like to play gin rummy and know the fine points of firearms?"

"Probably not. I was an army nurse."

"You're marvelous," said Shayne fervently. "I don't know why I bothered to ask for a police guard last night."

"A ruby is actually nothing more than crystallized corundum. Alumina, basically, with a small amount of chromium oxide to give it the characteristic color. So Verneuil went back to nature and used powdered alumina itself, adding enough chromium oxide to produce the exact color desired. These are fused at intense heat in a complicated furnace apparatus and a mass is formed which is called a boule or boule."

"I could go on like this for hours," the expert said with a slight show of impatience, "but I'm sure you get the important point. It is simply a physical impossibility to produce synthetically a stone which has the natural faults we call asterism. The star ruby. This may surprise you, but a star ruby is actually a faulty stone. Crystallization under natural conditions has not been perfect. The conditions producing asterism simply cannot be reproduced in the laboratory."

"I believe you're right. Yes, I do recall that. You begin to interest me."

"Is there the slightest possibility that either of those stones were fakes?"

"Not the slightest," Voorland seemed neither surprised nor angry, merely certain of his judgment.

"I'd like to know now you can be so sure," Shayne persisted. "I recall hearing you tell Mr. and Mrs. Dustin that synthetic stones will stand practically every chemical test."

"Practically every test," Voorland agreed. "But there are certain tests no synthetic stone can meet."

"But suppose those tests weren't applied," Shayne argued. "Suppose, for instance, you bought a stone from a reputable dealer. You'd take his word for its being genuine. Suppose he, in turn, had taken another man's word for the stone, and so on down the line, with no one bothering to make those tests?"

Voorland smiled whimsically. "As a matter of fact, exactly that thing has happened. It is a well-known yarn in the trade. An Amsterdam dealer bought a large ruby from an exiled Russian Grand Duchess whom he knew personally. It was consigned to a firm in Paris who, in turn, passed it on to a London expert and he sold it to an American retailer. All honest men. Yet, the ruby was synthetic. Each expert along the line had trusted the other to have applied the necessary tests."

"There's only one logical answer. They saw the way they way into the hands of private collectors who knew they were stolen and glory in possession of them. The worship of precious gems is a curious thing, Mike, and sometimes an unhealthy one. Many of the best known stones in history have disappeared from human sight for hundreds of years, only to reappear again centuries later with no record having been kept of their peregrinations. Collecting gems becomes a mania with some men. Possessing them utterly destroys their moral senses and all responsibility toward society."

"Men like the Rajah of Hindupoor?" Shayne suggested.

"(To Be Continued)"

He led the detective into a big square living room where two good paintings were hung on the wall and a few carefully selected objects d'art were tastefully displayed. The furnishings were masculine and luxurious. Shayne went across to long French doors leading out onto an iron-railed balcony and

Greenfield Trucker Victim of Monoxide

ZANESVILLE, March 6--(AP)--Paul H. Carson, 31, Greenfield, was killed by carbon monoxide gas in the cab of his truck at Frazesburg in Muskingum County, Coroner S. S. Daw said today. Carson's body was found early today.

Searchers Drag Lake For Missing Woman

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 6--(AP)--Searching parties dragged Zoar Lake yesterday seeking the body of Mrs. Emma Eberly, 72, of Zoar, who disappeared Wednesday night from the home of her son, Mayor Jess Eberly, former mayor of Zoar. A hole was found in the ice, and Sheriff Paul Pancher said Mrs. Eberly was accustomed to visiting her husband's grave near the lake.

Two American soldiers in Germany have been court-martialed for refusing to pass the catsup to a sergeant at chow time. Who says the military life is brutalizing? In the new army you not only have to be fit as a fiddle, but you have to savvy Emily Post from cover to ditto. We don't know if a blockade on the catsup container deserves a court-martial, but the incident should be encouraging to parents whose lads join the armed services. On the other hand any enemies of the U. S. shouldn't take the catsup clash too seriously. We once had a world's champion fighter called "gentleman Jim."

Spring must be just around the corner. My wife is talking about papering and painting. She has a recurrence of the disease every spring.

I've tried sassafras tea, mustard plasters and horse liniment, but there is no cure so far. If any of you married men find a cure let me know and I'll buy a gallon.

House cleaning comes next. Oh well we got to have something to stew about besides the national debt and the coal strike.

An Akron man who was boiling a couple of eggs let the water boil away, and when he picked up a cackle berry it exploded. However, he'll be alright... apart from a slight case of shell shock. Don't be shocked by big auto repair bills. Just bring your car to us for regular, efficient service. We have top mechanics with plenty of know-how and our equipment is the best. R. ## Robert Bailey Called by Death

Eagle Secretary
And Youth Leader

Robert Bailey, 44, died at 2:50 A. M. Monday at the White Cross Hospital in Columbus. He had been in ill for three weeks and in the hospital since last Monday.

Members of his family said they felt his basic trouble was nervous and physical exhaustion. He had been in failing health for more than two years.

A resident of Washington C. H. for the past ten years, "Bob" Bailey was a prominent figure in many activities here.

He had been secretary of the Eagles Lodge here for the past eight years and was one of the driving forces in building the membership to well over 2,000 members.

He also organized and did most of the writing for a lodge newspaper which was sent to Eagles in the military service all over the world during the war.

He was also one of the founders of the South Central Ohio Baseball League and served as secretary-treasurer for the past few years.

Always interested in the youth of the community, he was one of the mainstays in the formation of the city recreation program and has been a member of the recreation commission ever since it was set up by act of council four years ago.

He was born in Clinton County and was a member of the Methodist Church.

He married Thelma Mercer of Sabina, on August 24, 1933.

Surviving are his widow; a son, Robert M.; his mother, Mrs. Flavia Bush, all at home, 231 North Fayette Street; a sister, Mrs. Jesse Kirk, of Houston, Texas; a niece and two nephews.

Services will be held at 2 P. M. Thursday at the Grace Methodist Church, with Rev. Allan W. Caley in charge.

Burial will be made in Sabina Cemetery.

Friends may call at the late residence, 231 North Fayette Street, any time after 8 P. M. Monday.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of the Parrett Funeral Home.

County Courts

SUIT AND ANSWER FILED

Within 24 hours after John Milton Dodds had filed suit for divorce from Annabelle Dodds, the defendant filed an answer and cross petition, asking for divorce from the plaintiff.

In his suit, Dodds states that he was married to the defendant in Mississippi, January 31, 1942, and that they have two children. Gross neglect of duty is charged, and the plaintiff, who is represented by Hill and Hill, asks custody of their two children as well as divorce.

In her answer and cross petition, Mrs. Dodds charges the plaintiff with gross neglect of duty, and asks divorce, custody of their two children, funds for support of the children and alimony. She is represented by Charles S. Hire.

George R. Dean Dies At His Home

George R. Dean, 67, died at 8:15 P. M. Sunday at his home at 1004 South Hinde Street.

Ill for the past ten days, he had suffered a heart attack Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Dean was born in Washington C. H. and lived here all his life. He had been employed by the Midland Grocery Company for 42 years.

He was a communicant of St. Colman's Catholic Church and was a member of the Eagles Lodge here, having been a past president in 1919.

The only close survivors are distant cousins.

A high requiem mass will be held at 9:30 A. M. Wednesday at St. Colman's Church. Burial will be made in St. Colman's Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Gerstner Funeral Home at any time.

Eagles will have special services at the funeral home at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening. The Holy Name Society of the St. Colman's Catholic Church will have rosary services at 7:30 P. M. Tuesday at the funeral home.

MRS. EFFIE DRIESBACH, FRANKFORT-- Services for Mrs. Effie Driesbach, 75, who died near here Saturday, were held Monday with burial in the Frankfort Cemetery.

Paul Carson Dies Of Asphyxiation

Paul H. Carson, 31, of 816 Lafayette Street, Greenfield, was found dead Saturday morning in the cab of his truck near Frazeyburg.

The coroner said Carson died of asphyxiation between 3 and 5 A. M. Saturday.

Mr. Carson was driver of a big transport truck, hauling steel from Pittsburgh to Hamilton. According to reports, he pulled off the road at Frazeyburg, northeast of Newark, to sleep and left the motor running to keep warm. He was apparently overcome from engine fumes.

Mr. Carson, the son of Emmett and Mary E. Newton Carson, was born in Washington C. H. on May 13, 1918 and he went to school here.

In Greenfield, he was a member of the Elks and the Eagles Lodge. He was a veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his wife, Edna McCord Carson; his parents and three brothers, Robert and Richard, both of Greenfield, and Louis of Springfield.

Services will be held at 2 P. M. Tuesday at the Walker Funeral Home in Greenfield, with Rev. L. R. Wilson, Baptist minister, in charge.

The American Legion post in Greenfield will conduct military services. Burial will be made in the Greenfield Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

Miners Go to Work

while strikers would be in the pits by tomorrow morning.

Coal-hauling railroads worked through the night to send all available cars to the mines.

The badly needed fuel will be going to critical areas by tomorrow.

Hundreds of furloughed railroaders are back on the job--the first of the 225,000 laid off in coal-allied industries to return to work.

Steel Mills Get Ready

Steel mills are getting ready to resume full production.

Some states and industries such as steel mills, a week or more to resume full production.

Some of the mines owned by steel companies probably will work six days a week to build up stockpiles.

The miners are eager for all the work they can get.

Most are hundreds of dollars in debt because of the periodic work stoppages which began last year and finally blossomed into a full-scale walkout a month ago today.

Lewis lost no time letting his diggers know he finally got them a contract.

He dispatched back-to-work orders in hundreds of telegrams to his local leaders.
